

THREW A HORSE ON KING STREET

Hackdriver Pierce Did a Strong
Arm Act Which Won Much
Applause.

Hackdriver Pierce certainly knows how to handle an unruly horse. In a street accident yesterday his nerve action probably averted serious results.

In the forenoon he was driving his hack, No. 55, on King street, and when passing the Metropolitan Meat Market the horse suddenly became unmanageable, and was with the greatest difficulty prevented from upsetting the hack and injuring its occupants, who were ladies.

After much plunging and kicking the horse somehow threw itself and got wedged in between a wagon and the curb, rendering himself practically helpless.

A number of people picked out nice soft spots on the horse's head and neck, and Pierce, after unbiting the animal, threaded a rein through the bit and a hame ring, kept hold of one end of the rein, and shouted to the crowd to clear the deck for action.

The horse got up and was off in a jiffy. He soon came to the end of his tether however, for Pierce had braced himself for the shock, which, when it came, caused the horse to drop as if shot. The animal had evidently learned a lesson, for he suffered himself to be led away without showing any sign of intractability.

OFFICER SEIZED WITH A FIT

Last night about 7 o'clock Reginald Cole and a friend repaired to a house near Kukui and Nuanu streets, and are alleged to have made themselves objectionable to a lady. Officer Palenapa lives in this same house, and his height is something over six feet two. Cole and partner were presumably unaware of this fact.

Palenapa fought with the men all the way downstairs, and was finally reinforced by Officer Richardson and a white man named E. R. Jackson. A hack was obtained and the truculent pair were placed therein and consigned to the police station, in charge of Palenapa. Just as a start was being made the officer had a fit, and Cole's companion, taking advantage of the opportunity offered by the policeman's piliika, made good his escape. Cole was taken to the police station and charged with drunkenness.

Yesterday's arrests included: Kurihara, alias Kurihara, assault and battery on Yee Book; Hoolulu, drunkenness; Kawana, assault and battery; J. K. Keikiahia, assault and battery; Christian Jensen, vagrancy; Quong Leong, assault and battery; Kaaliie, assault and battery; Thomas Kane, assault with weapon.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.
It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of His Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue to conceal thinned hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff cannot be cured by scouring the scalp because it is a germ disease and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ.
